INVESTIGATION OF THE RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN YOUNG UNEMPLOYMENT PROBLEM AND FUTURE EXPECTATIONS: BATMAN PROVINCE RESEARCH

Hasan BARDAKÇI¹

INTRODUCTION

Young people are the guarantee of the future of societies. Therefore, the expectations of young people and the targets they want to achieve in the future express their future goals in their countries.

In Turkey, the country from the year 1970 as a result of terror and other events in eastern and south-eastern cities, especially socio-economically in a very matter are decomposed in a negative way.

Therefore, the socio-economic development of the eastern and southeastern cities directly affects the development of the country and slows down the economic and social development of the country.

It is an important problem in achieving its future goals. As the source of the problems of the future will be the youth of this day, it has become a necessity to examine the youth. while a high young population in Turkey are determined to show the importance of the youth audience.

In this context, the expectations of young people in the Southeast on future and employment (employment) were examined in Batman Province. The questionnaire was applied to young people and the results were analyzed in SPSS program.

YOUTH UNEMPLOYMENT PROBLEM IN THE WORLD AND TURKEY

In particular, young people who are unemployed, discontinuing job search, discouraged or working under poor working conditions have significant costs for themselves, their families, society and economy (karataş, 1996). The socio-e-

It is understood that young people see occupation-career, family-children and money-economic opportunities as the most challenging things for their sake.

Furthermore, it is seen that young people want to work in the state most. The most important reason for not being able to find a job or a new job is that young people have different political views, no job and because I have not a relatives to find work. In general, the respondents think that young people with a high quality job, educated young people and rich young people are more respected in society than other young people, respectively. Those who stated that they could not find a job or a new job because of lack of work (because of the bad market) were the most hopeful of the future while those who thought they could not find it because of their gender (those who thought they could not find a job because they were women) were the least hopeful of the future.
